This massive sandstone rock formation rises over 1,100 feet high, towering above the surrounding desert – known commonly as the "Outback." Uluru stretches for over 2 miles, which means that all the photos you've seen of Uluru were taken from pretty far away. The best time to visit Ayers Rock is at sunrise or sunset, when the rock seems to take on a distinct red glow. Although the rock itself is the focus of many, the surrounding area shouldn't be overlooked. Uluru is recognized as a UNESCO World Heritage Site and is home to various endangered creatures and reptiles. In addition to the animals of the park, analysis of cave drawings and archeological findings show that this area has been supporting human life for over 10,000 years.

PLEASE NOTE:

The overall activity level of this tour is a level 3. This means you're an on-the-go traveler. You don't want to miss a thing, so walking and standing for longer periods of time (2-3 hours) isn't a big deal. A moderately paced two-and-a-half-hour walking tour, covering several miles, hills, and uneven surfaces, is no problem for you. Walking four miles over the course of a day is very doable, as is climbing into and out of various modes of transportation (tuk-tuk, cable car, zodiac, etc.). You can climb three flights of stairs easily and handle altitudes between 6,000 and 9,000 feet. Expect some longer days with early mornings or late nights balanced with free time to recharge or set out on your own adventure. This level is not a fit for travelers who require mobility assistance devices.

Travel with an average of 37 people (maximum of 44).

If you require any special assistance while on tour, please make us aware at time of reservation so the necessary request form can be sent to your attention.

Due to changes in air schedules while on tour, the order of days in the itinerary may change.

Wildlife sightings cannot be guaranteed with the exception of visits to wildlife parks.

Single accommodations are limited and are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Single rate subject to change based on availability.

To complete your tour, we include roundtrip airport-to-hotel transfers when purchasing our airfare with your tour. If you have arranged for your own air, we are pleased to provide you the option of purchasing these transfers. Please note that all transfers will leave at pre-scheduled times.

Due to early arrival times into some cities, rooms may not always be available for immediate check-in.

For air-inclusive reservations, the name provided at time of booking must match your government-issued ID that will be used during travel. Name changes are subject to penalties.

Please be advised many airlines do not provide advance seat assignments until check-in at the airport. Advance seating will be subject to the airline's terms and conditions.

Internal flights are required in order to participate on this tour and are included in the final price, quoted at time of booking.
